Adler Dolomiti links up with Golf San Vigilio Siusi to offer golf & relaxation in the heart of the Dolomites

Italy, August 2014: The Adler Dolomiti (www.adler-dolomiti.com) in south Tyrol has linked up with Golf San Vigilio Siusi (www.golfstvigilseis.it) to offer a late summer /autumn holiday that combines golf and relaxation in the heart of Italy's breathtaking Dolomites, where the spectacular scenery is as much a part of the experience as the golf.

Golf San Vigilio Siusi; Adler Dolomiti

The “Golf Holiday in the Dolomites” package includes either four or seven nights’ half-board accommodation at the Adler Dolomiti, one green fee (including use of a golf cart) and a 30% discount on additional green fees played at Golf San Vigilio Siusi as well as complimentary access to the Adler Spa. Prices for the four-night package start at Euros 471 (approx £375) per person based on two people sharing a double room, while the seven-night package starts from Euros 873 (approx £690).

Set in Val Gardena, one of the most beautiful areas of the Dolomites (a UNESCO World Heritage site recognised for its outstanding natural beauty), the luxury five-star Adler Dolomiti is just 11 km (or a 20-minute drive) from Golf San Vigilio Siusi, which is recognised as one of the most fantastic golf courses in northern Italy.

Open from March to November, the well-groomed golf course stretches out over an area of around 60 hectares at an altitude of 850m giving the golf course a backdrop that is as dramatic as it is memorable, thanks to spectacular Tyrolean mountain panoramas, crystal clear ponds and waterfalls, and deep ravines. The undulating terrain of the Dolomites and the tight fairways make a round over San Vigilio Siusi quite challenging, although the course is not too long making it playable by every level of golfer.

The club's practice facilities include a two-tiered driving range with 32 indoor practice tees and PGA Golf Professional Rudi Knapp offers golf coaching, with the most modern computer-aided learning techniques (using video glasses and impact bags), throughout the week except Monday mornings (when the course is closed for green keeping).

After a round of golf, the Adler Spa is the ideal place to retire for some relaxation and, if necessary, pummelling of muscles. Individual spa treatments and holistic healing programmes are available in the award-winning spa that comprises thermal pools, saunas, steam rooms, a salt grotto and relaxation areas spread over 3,500 square metres.

Away from the golf course, there are plenty of other outdoor pursuits for golfers and non-golfers to enjoy. The Dolomites are well-known as a walker's paradise, and cable cars close to the hotel give quick and easy access to a dense network of trails of varying degrees of difficulty and themes – some of geological or historic importance, others known for their wild flowers. Open to all guests staying at the Adler Dolomiti on a complimentary basis are two daily guided hikes, which include early morning, sunset and Nordic walks.

For those who prefer two wheels, guests can make use of the hotel's mountain bikes and electric cycles to explore some of the 30 trails that meander through the stunning mountain setting of the Dolomites – or join the hotel's daily guided ride.

For golfers keen to stick to the fairways, there is a choice of six other golf courses to discover within reasonable distance by car from the Adler Dolomiti. The Golf Club Alta Badia, one of the highest 9-hole golf courses in Europe, is 28 km away and Golf Club Carezza set in the Latemar Cliffs is 55km away, with Golf Club Monte San Pietro at 1,250m above sea level and Golf Club Ladinia both located 59km from the hotel.

Reserved for the most dedicated golfer are Golf Club Val Pusteria, set in meadows and forests, which is 75km away and Golf Club Passiria, which, at 86km, is the furthest away from the Adler Dolomiti.
